

Therapeutic cannabis

The movement to legalize recreational uses and the growing number of medical applications has exploded the cannabis market. In France, The Capital Investment Advisor paved the way for investing in cannabis.

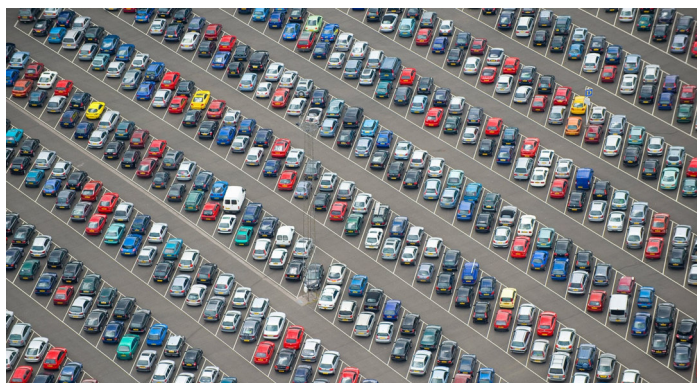

The economic situation is currently more than favorable for cannabis. Not only are researchers currently dismantling the prejudices against cannabis, but more and more patients are using this herb to relieve their pain. In fact, the figures prove that this sector is already extremely profitable, in all areas, from production to distribution.

The Capital Investment Advisor has built an exceptional network that is expanding its ramifications in all countries of the world and will make you benefit from the exceptional growth of this new asset.

Car Park

Always looking for innovation, The Capital Investment Advisor was the European pioneer in parking investment. After starting in Ile-de-France, we have gradually spread to the majority of European countries. Our offices in major European cities are constantly on the lookout for the best opportunities.

It's three times better than life insurance! With an average return of 5% in 2017, investing in a parking lot or a box is a good way to diversify your assets. The efforts of large cities to reduce car traffic do not seem likely to affect this market. There is a decrease in car traffic in the city center but an increase in the near periphery. In Paris, for example, the elimination of on-street parking spaces and the increase in the amount of fines for non-payment of parking, are generating increased demand.
